BLAMEWORTHY THEMSELVES.

More toleration of legitimate and strictly loyal criticism, a long time ago, would have sooner effected conciliation of dissidents than the fierce resentment, for selfish purposes, which was displayed toward such criticism. Contemporaries that are now fitfully jabbing back at the "irreconcilables," and expressing gratification perhaps only feigned over the adhesion of some former opponents of the new order, did their level best to prevent reconciliation. They did it by indicating as "rascals," to be turned out of office, young Hawaiians who were a credit to the public service and to their nationality. They did it by shouting "rebel" and "royalist" at everyone who had the temerity to question the perfect wisdom of any act of the administration. They did it by refusing to acknowledge good faith in those who, when the United States Government changed its base by recognizing the Republic of Hawaii, gave in their support to the constitution of the republic. They did it all along until lately by propagating false and fraudulent reasons for the overthrow of the monarchy, in addition to those reasons that were from the first acknowledged by a large proportion of the royalists to have been provocation for at least severe rebuke, while holding that the change brought about was ill-considered, too violent, and liable to produce future disaster. A great many people who had no superstitious reverence for royalty as such—although believing that the best form of government for Hawaii was that which a majority of its people were most used to and best liked—disapproved of some of the doings and details of policy of the Provisional Government, as well as, later, of the Government of the Republic. Whenever such independent spirits opened their mouths or showed their feelings they were basely attacked as "royalists" and subjected to boycotting, yet there were none more prompt than scores of this class to spring to the defense of law and order in 1895 when an attempt was made to overthrow the Government by violence.

The foregoing was written for yesterday's issue, but the printer was allowed to lift its type out of the form, to make room for a late rush of news and advertisements. What is said is more than justified by the impotent gnashing of teeth at this paper in yesterday's Star. One has not to go far back, on this occasion, to discover the motive of the Star's little explosion of ugly temper. That paper has a habit, peculiar to the Eatonsville Gazette class of journals, of breaking out with splutters of mud at everybody who says "boo" to its nonsense or "scat" to its contemptible impudence. To this latest ebullition the Star was excited by two causes arising lately. Doubtless under a pressure that was dangerous to its limited capacity, it had for more than a week been nursing its wrath to keep it warm, in the hope probably that a little time would conceal its motive. A second shot below the water line, however, struck its magazine and the explosion was inevitable. It will be remembered, by the diminishing few readers of that bushwhacking sheet, that the Star, ten or twelve days ago, made itself the mouthpiece of a covert attack on the Government, upon the matter of employment for members of the National Guard on public works. It even went so far as to print a letter, pointed with a sneaking threat of sedition, over an anonymous signature. The BULLETIN went to headquarters and published facts there gained which showed that the Star's underhanded attack on the Government, over the shoulders of the volunteer soldiery, was grounded upon a pack of lies. The Star was silent—no doubt sorely silent, over the exposure, but with foxy craftiness bided its time for revenge. When, however, the BULLETIN was impelled to puncture the boasting of the Star to leadership in the purveying of news, by exposing some of its little "tricks" not "of the trade," its fury became incontinent. Hence the outburst of yesterday's stellar apparition. The BULLETIN has no shovel in stock with which to reply to the Star's mucky delivery. Its only answer to these periodical ravings is to give the patient homeopathic treatment—cultivating its jealousy down to an innocuous type of the disease by referring it to the constantly increasing favor with which the BULLETIN is regarded by the community in general, both as a newspaper and a trustworthy vehicle of public opinion.

BROTHERS TWO.

With consequential blandness and in its most dreary and defective diction, the Advertiser endorses the Star's fanfaronade so far as that refers to other papers than its, the Advertiser's, self, but in the same breath almost reads the pretentious and humbugging evening print, of its own stripe, a lecture on its bulging conceit. The fact is that both these self-constituted oracles, who pretend to be divinely appointed bulwarks of good government, are suffering internal pain from the exhibition of impotency they made during the late session of the Legislature, in their frantic efforts to lead public opinion and to influence legislation. It was the rule with few exceptions that the measures either of those papers made particular exertions to promote were those most surely fated to be squelched. Even the Independent, with its flat-footed but sometimes inconsiderate discontent, had more power to its elbow shown by its results than either of the two journals that plumed themselves upon being the touchstones of profound statesmanship.

That Skipper's Growl.

EDITOR BULLETIN: With reference to the growl of the captain of the Jessie Osborne in the Advertiser, and the heap of talk about it in that paper, let me throw in a word of truth. Ballast was never sold 2000 lb. to the ton. I have weighed lots at 2240 lb. SCOTT.

REFRIGERATING MACHINES AND CREAM SEPARATORS.

Now that the Fourth of July celebration is over and people are settling down to business again, we desire to call the attention of the residents of the Hawaiian Islands to a few matters of interest.

We have lately been appointed sole agents for BARBER'S REFRIGERATING MACHINES.

This machine can readily be arranged in creameries, etc., so as to cool cream, milk and water to any desired temperature down to and below freezing, as also to hold a well-insulated butter-room at any temperature desired above 30 degrees, only requiring the running of the machine from four to six hours per day, which is the usual time that the other machinery in a creamery is operated.

In addition to creameries, these machines are also adapted for use in produce houses, meat markets, hotels, club houses, etc. Their perfect work has been demonstrated fully in the past two years in a large number of creameries in different portions of the East, and more particularly in the Elgin, Ill., district, as well as in butter houses in Chicago, New Orleans, and elsewhere.

The cost of operation is nominal, as the charge of ammonia furnished with the plant should last a year or more without recharging, and will cost only about $15.00.

The DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATORS are now in almost universal creamery or factory use the world over, and in the past few years the Dairy or "Baby" sizes of these machines have almost as completely revolutionized general dairying as had the larger machines previously the creamery industry.

The De Laval Company now presents to the public a smaller type of its latest and most improved "Alpha" machines intended for household and small dairy use, and designed to confer in its new field the same inestimable benefits of centrifugal separation of cream from milk as have the larger machines in their respective spheres.

No more fitting and descriptive term could well be applied to this little machine than the name which has been so aptly given it,—the "Humming-Bird." It is very small, very compact, extremely simple, easily understood and cared for, safe and durable. It possesses every advantage to be found in any of the larger "Alpha" machines, is so extremely easy of operation by reason of its new method of obtaining motion as to be designed mainly for use by women and children, and is absolutely thorough in its effectiveness. It need simply be said that it fulfills every requirement of its purpose.

DECEPTION.

A man who had something to sell and who by honest representation lost the sale, would, according to the deplorable standard of today, lack an essential in the make-up of a salesman.

There is but one sure way to guard against misrepresentation in business: it is to supply an article of such merit that its superior qualities leave nothing to be desired. The truth more adequately describes such an article than a lie could possibly do.

To put inferior goods into the hands of a salesman whose living is contingent on their sale, is to lead that man into temptation. There is but one way to stop the sale of liquor and inferior merchandise, and that is to abolish their manufacture.

W. W. DIMOND'S

This is hot weather, food spoiling weather, unless the proper attention is given to refrigerator suggestions. There's all sorts of devices for keeping food fresh, good, bad or indifferent. Some of the named refrigerators are no better than dry goods boxes; the lining is not right and the system of draught and air circulation is defective.

In the United States there were complaints against the Gurney, complaints we had not heard of here. When we were at the Coast a few weeks ago, we took the trouble to investigate and learned that the objections were all right, but they were against the Gurney Challenge refrigerator and not the Gurney Cleanable.

We sell the Cleanable; were appointed sole agents for the Hawaiian Islands and we don't sell any other. The Gurney Cleanable is lined with mineral wool, the greatest non-conductor known to science; the Gurney Challenge is lined with charcoal and is a cheap combination that is unserviceable.

Foods are easily kept sweet and appetizing with a right refrigerator to help. Your summer health is easier kept than regained. There are many refrigerators, some excellent ones, but none equal the Gurney Cleanable. Profits are forgotten when we sell them.
